Personal Website

With content layout inspired by the Golden Ratio principle commonly applied in architecture, this responsive website has been designed and developed from scratch using React and GatsbyJS.

Personal Logo

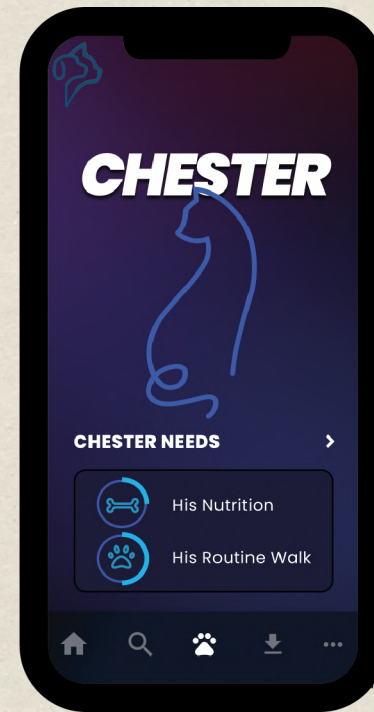

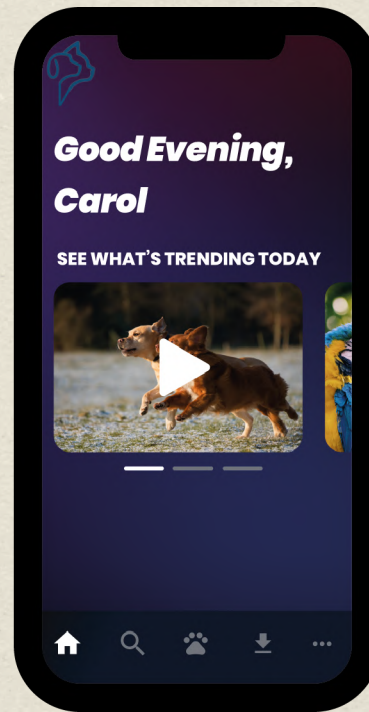

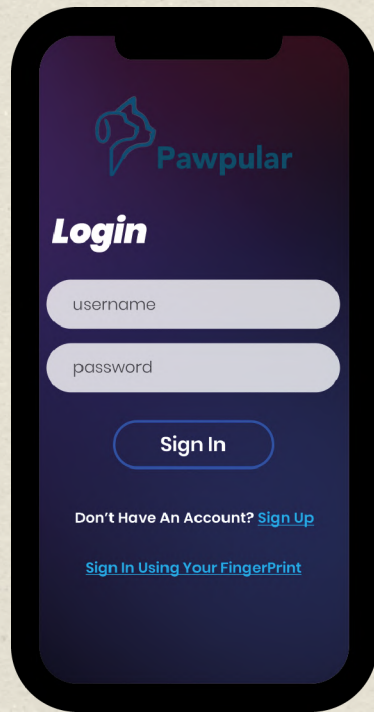

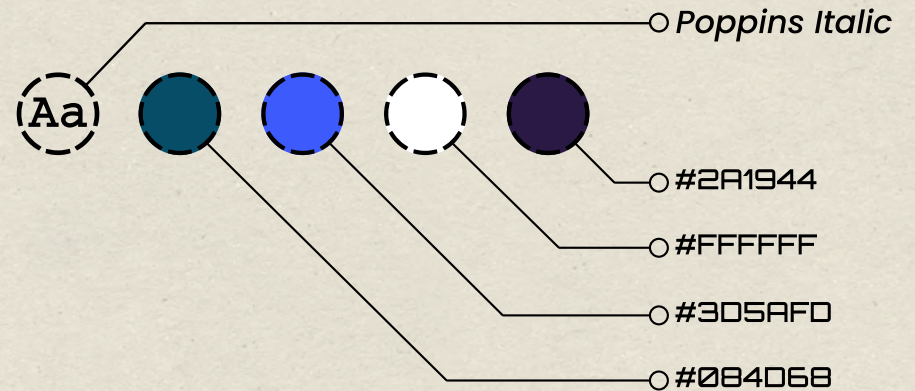

Originally penned by my 13-year old self as an insignia for my school stationery, I aimed to condense all letters in my name into a single, easy-to-remember symbol. Years later, I have now begun integrating it into my online identity: to symbolise my design and developmental capabilities. The logo's sharp and serious visage is meant to portray commitment, focus, and the fact that any task, given enough time, will eventually be successfully executed.

Pawpular

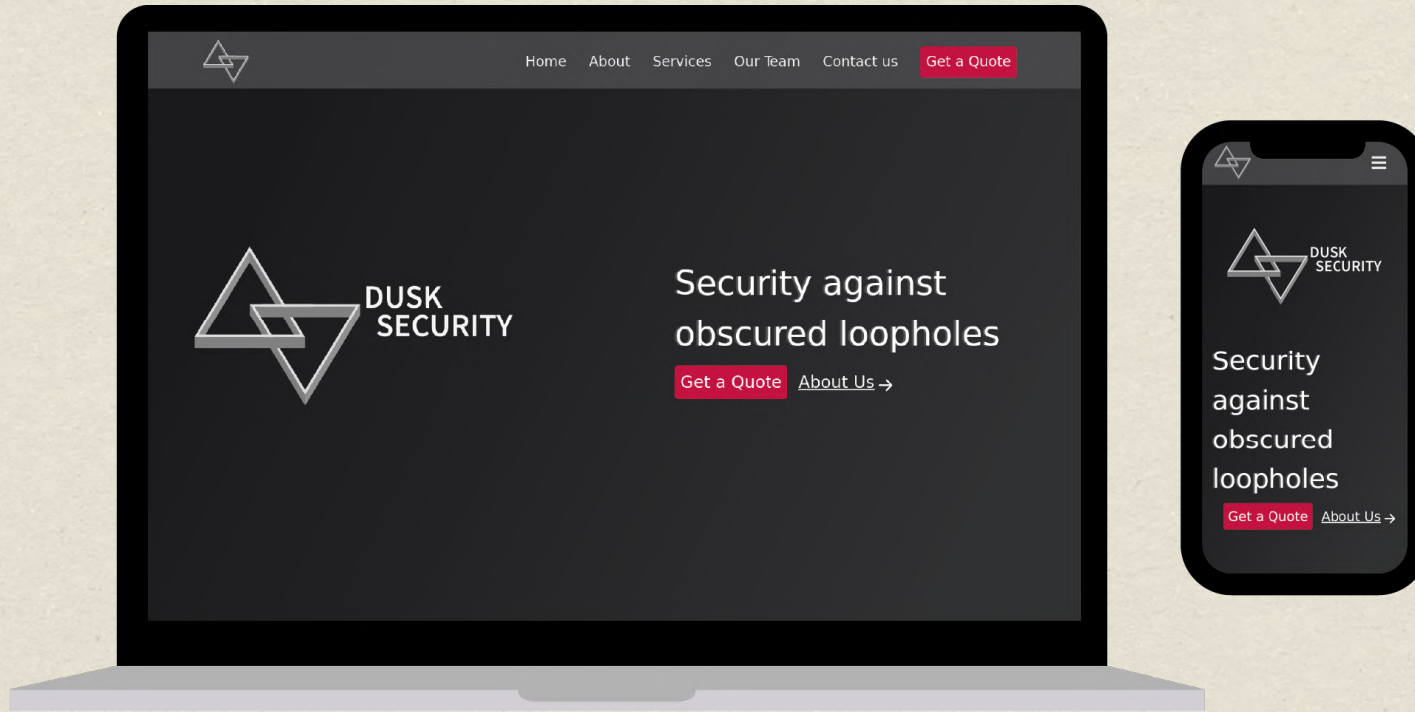

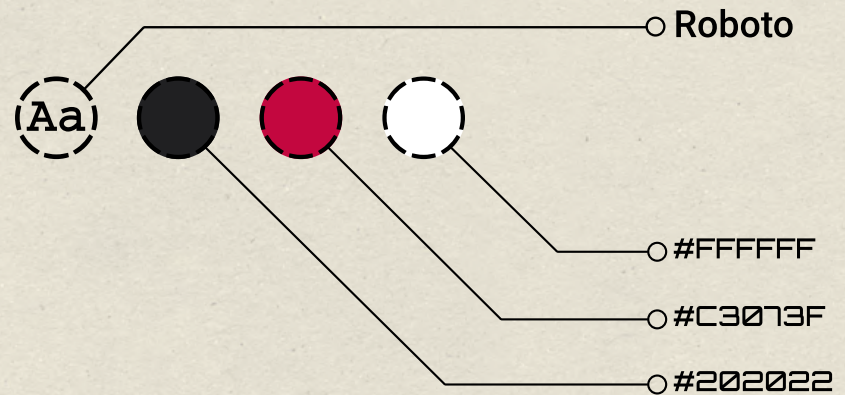

Co-designed as part of a team submission for the Palette '21 Design-a-thon hosted by IEEE-VIT. The prompt was "A mobile application for streaming services specifically for pet owners"

Dusk Security

Using a minimalist approach to layout and design, Dusk Security's website and logo offer familiarity and safety, all combined with the premium feel that the accented red elements exude.
